DUANE'S WORLD

As I look outside my window, I see that it's too early to think about putting the snow blower away and taking the cover off of Lil Darlin'. Hey, this is how I started last month's Duane's World, and it still looks that way! In the last week or so, we have been making progress, and I don't have to keep my fingers crossed, anymore, that there are no cars coming down the street that I can't see because of the height of the snowbank at the end of our driveway. In the U.P. of Michigan, where they get anywhere from 150" to 300" of snow a year, it was a custom to put a tennis ball on your car antenna so folks could see you coming up to an intersection, or out of your drive. Since external antennas are less prevalent than they used to be, I don't know if that's much of an option, these days. I guess that's one of the reasons we stay out of the U.P. in the winter!

I'm happy to announce that I have been able to scrape up some extra time to get out to the shop to get some minor things done on Lil Darlin'. She's once again in the air, and I have been able to get a couple of things done that I postponed from my project, last year, when I put new rear springs in. I actually think I'll have her back on the ground and ready to boogie when the time finally comes to do some cruising. (Try to get that image out of your head imagining what it looks like when Lil Darlin' and I are boogying!)

By now you should be aware that new club jackets are available. I still have my old club jacket from back in the nineties, but for some reason it shrunk quite a bit, and it doesn't fit as well as it did then. I think it got wet in the rain, and that's why it shrunk. That's my story, and I'm sticking to it! Anyway, I think the new jackets will work out well, and give us a chance to advertise the club at upcoming car events.

The next club meeting is April 13, and I have a feeling that some of our snowbirds might be back, and we can brag about the wimpy winter we just had. See you out there, somewhere. DB

CLUB JACKETS & HATS FOR SALE

Recently, an e-mail was sent out to all members with the information that we now have a chance to buy new Club jackets & hats. Craig Duntley is the go to guy for getting your own jacket, or to answer your questions before you make a decision to buy. Craig informs me that jacket orders are starting to come in, and a good time to place your order would be at the club meeting on April 13.

If you want information on prices, sizes, etc, call Craig at (612) 718-1820, or e-mail him at:

oldspepsi@yahoo.com

CLUB PLAQUE RESIDES IN ARIZONA

I recently received an e-mail from former member, Dave Thurber who now lives permanently in Arizona. Dave wanted a Club plaque to add to his collection. Ron Willson made arrangements with him to get that done. Dave sent me a photo of his new plaque on display with other car artifacts. For $31.00, you too could have a plaque to hang on the wall, or on your ride. Contact Ron Willson.

MONTHLY MEETING MINUTES – No meeting in March

GARAGE SCENE - SCOTT FRANK'S 1969 CHEVELLE SS

(And an example of "It's a small world")

In this month's, and probably the last "Garage Scene" for the season, I am featuring member Scott Frank and his 1969 Chevelle SS. I doubt many of you are familiar with Scott & Sandy as they are our newest members. On this page, I'll try to give you a little background on the Chevelle, and also, try to explain what I mean by "Small World")

Since joining the Club, Scott & I have had some dialog going over the internet with me trying to find out more about the Chevelle. I have a large soft spot in my heart after having a '69 Chevelle of my own that I bought new in 1969, but that's another story. Before the Chevelle came on the scene, Scott bought a '69 Camaro that turned out to be too much of a project, and they sold it for parts. Scott's boys then found the Chevelle in a barn with no engine, tranny, and a fair amount of weight reduction on the car. Editors note: As car folks, I'm sure we understand completely what he means by "weight reduction!"

Scott was looking for a project to keep the family together after his three kids were done with high school sports and activities. A small block Chevy and a garage full of parts became the first means of propulsion. A job change to Texas found Scott dragging the Chevelle along with family, where they hung out with the "Nifty Fifties" car group. It sounds like the Frank family got a little homesick for Minnesota and moved back here after their first grandchild was born. A debate was held over selling the car in Texas or dragging it back to Minnesota. Luckily they did bring the Chevelle back, and I'm glad they did, otherwise I wouldn't have anything to talk about this month!

Fast forward to the present, and now there are three grandsons available to help work on the car. Somewhere along the line an LS motor found its way into the engine bay, and Scott reports that he is doing some undercarriage work this winter, being careful that the car will be ready to cruise when the time comes.

And now for that small world thing I mentioned earlier. In corresponding with Scott, I discovered that in his younger days he worked at the Southtown "66" gas station on Penn Avenue in Bloomington. It just so happens that my roommate and I were regulars at that station with our gas guzzling GTO and Chevelle. We also had 650 Triumph bikes which needed the occasional fill up. The owner of the 66 station, Jerry, was a Corvette guy, and he didn't seem to mind us hanging around and talking smart. I'm quite sure that Scott's and our paths must have crossed back in those days!

Now that Scott & Sandy are Southern Cruzers, we welcome them to the Club, and I see them fitting right in! I became familiar with Scott and his Chevelle from the Wednesday night outings at Buck Hill. Also, thanks to Ellen Heitzman and J.T. Taylor for recruiting Scott & Sandy into our Club!

THE GIFT OF GIVING CONTINUES!

On a rainy St. Urho's day in mid-March, Rose and I went over to the Dakota County Technical College to present a check for $1500.00 to the appreciative folks in the automotive department. Scheduling snags prevented us from getting this done in time to be inserted in last month's Cruz News issue, but as usual they were happy to have us there! Amy Epping, Foundation Development Director, met us at the front lobby and took us down to the auto shops. Going through the shops, we saw students busily working on motors and transmissions, and I regret that I didn't have a facility like this with a great chance of getting into the industry when I was a young lad. In the auto body shop we took this photo along with the instructors from both areas. Left to right: Duane, Jerry Rainford, Christ Siebenaler, Jeff Copeland, and Scott Anderson.
